CB Kills Boycott Motion

Paul Ulrich called a special Central Board meeting yesterday at noon to consider boycotting classes to show student opposition to Governor Nutter's cuts in the university system budget.

Ulrich called the meeting after receiving calls from Stan Strom, student body president of Northern Montana College of Education, and Arjay Godston, student body president of MSC. Strom asked MSU student body support by boycotting classes today.

A. W. Stone, faculty adviser to CB, said, "The governor's budget is only a proposal and any demonstration now might not have a favorable reaction with the legislators who will do the cutting if it is done."

Robert Oswald, faculty adviser, has asked the administration's opinion of the proposed boycott. He said, "I called President New-burn in Helena and he said 'any action at this time would hurt the University because no one knew if the governor's budget would be accepted.'"

The majority of the Central Board members present decided since the legislature still has six weeks in session and the budget has yet to be introduced it is too early for student action. Some of the members felt if the proposed budget were given considerable backing, a student protest might then be in store.

James Johnson called for a vote on the motion "We, (student body) stage a boycott today."

The motion was defeated unanimously.

Walkout Canceled In 'Heated' Debate

HAVRE (AP) — Students at Northern Montana College called off a classroom boycott scheduled for Wednesday morning.

A 3½-hour student body meeting, after debate described as "heated," canceled the threatened walkout to protest proposed state budget cuts.

Students at other Montana colleges contacted by NMC students urging a walkout also turned a cold shoulder on the proposal.

Montana State University, Montana School of Mines in Butte, Western Montana College in Dillon and the College of Great Falls told newsmen they vetoed any demonstration.

Student Body President Stan Strom had earlier called off the boycott, and students at the nighttime meeting backed his decision.

Balloting is open to all University students, according to Ed Whitelaw, Elections Committee chairman.

One candidate, John Ulvila, has filed for the position and not four as erroneously reported in Friday's Kaimin.

Students may vote for a write-in candidate.

Candidates must have a 2.5 grade point average, 105 total college credits, 5 quarters of MSU residence and a total of 7 quarters of college residence.

'Four Freshmen' Here Tomorrow

The Four Freshmen will be on campus Thursday, and will give two performances, at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., according to John Datsopoulos, ASMSU vice president.

They will arrive in Missoula about 2:30 p.m. by automobile from Butte, he said.

Tickets are now on sale at the Lodge from Spurs and Bear Paws, Datsopoulos said.

Belgians Report Seeing Lumumba

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo, (AP)—Patrice Lumumba was reported here Tuesday under close guard and in handcuffs, but the reason was a mystery.

The reports came from officials of the Belgian air line, Sabena, who said they saw the ex-premier arrive and also from Katanga Province officials commenting privately.

Grant to Provide Science Lectures

The Montana Academy of Sciences has received a $12,822 grant from the National Science Foundation Visiting Scientist Program, John P. Robinson, program director, said.

The program will enable 60 scientists to visit high schools and junior high schools throughout the state. They will serve as lecturers, panelists or consultants and may spend time with faculty and lay groups as well as students.

Requests from any junior or senior high school in the state will be considered as long as funds are available, Mr. Robinson said. He suggested that very small schools join with one or more others to assure equal consideration in the event of a heavy volume of requests.

MSU scientists selected for participation are: Arnold W. Bolle, Gordon Browder, Ludvig G. Browman, Gordon B. Castle, Meyer Chessin, Robert W. Fields, James W. Gebhart, Joseph Hashisaki, Mark J. Jakobson, C. R. Jeppesen, Arthur E. Livingston, Carling Malouf.

Whitelaw Explains Amendment To Abolish Special Elections

Ed Whitelaw, Elections Committee chairman, yesterday said the proposed amendment to the ASMSU by-laws would eliminate the necessity of calling for special elections to fill midquarter vacancies in Central Board offices.

The amendment, Whitelaw said, would likely be to the effect that any vacancy which occurs in official offices between fall and spring elections shall be filled by presidential appointment with consent of Central Board by two-thirds vote. If a vacancy occurs after the spring election, it shall be filled by the election at the beginning of fall term.

The by-laws now provide that any vacancy which occurs in ASMSU offices shall be filled by a general school election.

amendment to Central Board last week, is of the opinion that student interest is too low to warrant holding special elections. He pointed out that only one applicant, John Ulvila, has filed for the position recently vacated by ASMSU business manager, Virgil Bon.

If the amendment is passed, it will not affect the coming election of ASMSU business manager, but it would give ASMSU president Paul Ulrich the authority to appoint a junior delegate to the position which John Ulvila recently resigned in order to apply for the business manager position.

The new business manager will serve as chairman of Budget and Finance Committee. This committee recommends to Central Board the ASMSU budget for next year.

Communism Will Take Over World, Predicts Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union published Premier Khrushchev's complete detailed blueprint on how he expects communism to take over the world in the near future.

His 20,000-word speech, one of the frankest and most important documents printed here since World War II, proclaimed that "the victory of socialism on a world scale, inevitable by the laws of historical development, is no longer far off."

"War is not needed for the victory," he declared.

But he said, if capitalism tries to resist then the working classes must "resort to arms" to bring about a worldwide dictatorship of the proletariat.

Khrushchev's speech was in the form of a report to a general meeting of party organizations Jan. 6, on the correct interpretation of the Communist summit declaration adopted by 81 parties last fall. His speech was printed today in the January issue of the magazine Kommunist.

Rickover Accepts Peacetime Medal

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover stood on the bridge of the submarine Nautilus as she first sailed under nuclear power six years ago.

With 16 atomic submarines in service, Rickover stood again on the Nautilus, Tuesday—the sailing sixth anniversary—and received the Navy's highest peacetime decoration, the Distinguished Service Medal.

Elders Bear Gifts To Retard Attack

VANG VIENG, Laos (AP) — Rebel prisoners taken by government soldiers in the capture of Vang Vieng said soldiers from Communist North Viet Nam were among the town's defenders but fled before it fell.

The prisoners, who were interrogated separately, said the Red Vietnamese contingent included a company of infantrymen, artillerymen and other instructors. The Vietnamese escaped Sunday, the prisoners said.

There was one comic twist to the battle. As the government forces advanced on Vang Vieng, they were met by a delegation of seven village elders bearing bowls of flowers.

The villagers asked that the attack be held off until after 6 p.m. Sunday because farmers were working their fields. The government forces agreed and attacked at dawn Monday.

Baluva War Party Launches Attacks

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP)—About 500 rebel Baluva tribesmen launched four attacks today on Swedish U.N. troops guarding a train in central Katanga Province but were repulsed with heavy losses, a U.N. spokesman said.

The fourth attack came after the Swedes, warding off three morning attacks, took the train into the town of Luena and dug in around the station.

The Baluva war party charged the Swedish position, ran into a storm of automatic weapons fire, and withdrew. The spokesman said no casualties were reported among the Swedes.

Six Hungry Children

Former-Gov. J. Hugo Aronson helped heap confusion on Gov. Don Nutter by his suggestion of sweeping reforms for the six-unit university system. This became obvious when Gov. Nutter, in trying to comment on his predecessor's recommendations, said, "I am no expert on education . . . I don't want to deny to anyone the right to attend . . . This would be another thing to be resolved by a committee on higher education."

When a man plans a family, the time to do it is not after he has six children. If Mr. Aronson had made his reforms eight years ago when he was stepping into office, Montana might not be over-burdened now.

When you have a big family, your first moral obligation must be to feed it. This problem has landed in the lap of budget-minded Gov. Nutter, who must realize a tremendous effort now to save the university system will be an inheritance for the future.

Montana will grow into its over-sized, well-designed university system in a matter of time. With the enrollment boom of "war babies," this should not take long. To destroy the system now would be senseless. —ryho

Coordination, Not Confusion

The pressure put on Central Board yesterday to conform with Northern Montana College by agreeing to boycott classes must have been unbearable. Their action to reject this plea should be cheered as an important step in keeping open-minded relations between the University and legislators.

Students should remember that Gov. Don Nutter's budget still amounts only to a proposal and legislators must get a chance to discuss it quietly with university system presidents. A demonstration now could harm this relationship.

On the other hand, students might help turn the tide by the letter-writing campaign suggested by ASMSU Pres. Paul Ulrich. Sending 3,000 or more letters would let legislators know students are deeply concerned, not just agitated.

Such a campaign will require coordination, not confusion. Cooperation, not conjecture. We urge everyone to pitch in. —ryho

Subtle Discrimination

By FRANK WALSH, Kaimin Reporter

As the big cake, the national budget, is sliced up, one piece will be labeled for federal aid to education. Seemingly this slice is neatly wrapped and set out to be used by students hungry for knowledge.

As always happens, when the slice is unwrapped the frosting comes off with the wrapping. While the federal aid might have been enjoyed by all qualified persons, some are left out because of reasons known only to our elected officials.

This became public in an announcement made last week by President H. K. Newburn, that a National Defense Education Act Summer Institute will be held at MSU this summer. Secondary teachers of French and Spanish will participate in this institute. The criteria for admission is a Bachelor's degree; at least two years' college study of French or Spanish, or the equivalent; present status as a foreign language teacher preferably with at least one year of experience and evidence of good potential as a teacher, supported by recommendations.

Public school teachers will receive stipends of $75 a week, plus $15 a week for each dependent.

Private school teachers will receive no stipends but will attend the institute without charge.

This is where the frosting is lost. Not only do public school teachers attend free as do the private school teachers but they also get the stipends mentioned.

This discrimination is not only a slap at private school teachers but also a shameful display of the inequalities of rights to be shown to the youth of America.

Montana alone has 22 private secondary schools. Not one of these school receives public money, yet they perform their duties well enough to be accredited across the nation.

Pen Mightier Than Sword, Ulrich Says

To the Kaimin:

The proposed reduction in appropriations for the University system calls for action on the part of all of us. If we are to preserve the high-quality education that we now enjoy, it is essential that the legislature be informed of its value, and the necessity of its expansion.

I urge each member of the Associated Students to write in protest to his Senator and Representatives and ask his friends to do the same. Further, our parents should be asked to use their influence with the legislature to secure favorable action on University budget requests. Lists of Senators and Representatives, together with their Helena addresses will be available in the ASMSU office from 4 to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

If each person does his part, there will be no doubt as to the interest that we all have in the adequate maintenance of the University system, and of the value that we place upon higher education.

Fraternity Writes Plea for U Budget

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was written to Sen. Dussault without knowledge of ASMSU Pres. Paul Ulrich's request for a letter-writing campaign. We hope it sets a good example.

To The Kaimin:

Dear Senator Dussault,

The members of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity have passed unanimously a resolution opposing any reduction in MSU's budget.

We hope so much that you will use your valuable influence against any cut in the University's budget. We also hope that you will critically appraise any other proposed cuts in the university system's budget.

We feel that a cut of the magnitude suggested in Governor Nutter's proposed budget will seriously detract from the high quality of education now being offered and will not be in the best interests of the State of Montana.

Grizzly Swim Team Prepares For Tough Test This Weekend

Montana's swimming team will face one of its toughest opponents of the season, Washington State, in a triangular meet Saturday at Pullman.

Washington State always has a strong team and has improved over last year.

Third team in the meet, Idaho, usually has a good record. Although Montana clobbered them last year, Idaho has the kind of team that cannot be regarded slightly.

Coach Bud Wallace said it will take a lot of team effort from the Grizzly tankmen to come out of this meet on top. The Grizzlies will have to finish at least fifth in every event, he said.

The MSU team has been practicing regularly since the beginning of fall quarter. At times the tankmen began the day early with a 6 to 7 practice and then returned to the pool from 3 to 5 in the afternoon, Coach Wallace explained.

Competition this weekend should help the team. Wallace said the Grizzlies are the kind of team that has to be pushed to give their best efforts.

Montana has two open dates Jan. 27 and 28. Wallace said the extra week of practice should be to the Grizzlies' advantage in preparing for Skyline meets.

The Grizzlies have a lot to look forward to, Wallace said. "Swimming on the West Coast has improved in the last three years and the Skyline should be one of the best conferences in the country in a year or so," he added.

Basketball Participation Booms

Intramural basketball at MSU is having its biggest year this season, with 52 teams in six leagues.

Ed Chinske, director of the program, said the previous high was in 1959 when there were 51 teams taking part in the basketball program.

Chinske has drawn up a schedule of 194 games after which a tournament will be played to decide the intramural champion.

Chinske said the biggest problem with the program is getting teams to show up for games. He said several teams will enter a league and then some fail to play any games.

In other winter intramural sports, Chinske said, the intramural ski meet has been tentatively scheduled for Feb. 5. Rosters for the meet are due January 27.

Chinske also urged students interested in wrestling to sign up at the Men's Gym by Jan. 31. No date has been set for the wrestling tournament. This is the first year wrestling has been offered on the intramural program.

Bowling Tourney In Second Round

Missoula Independents, Brantly and Delta Gamma were victorious Monday in the second round of the WRA double-elimination bowling tournament.

Missoula beat Turner 1,366 to 1,245, and Brantly defeated North Corbin 1,228 to 1,113. Delta Gamma won by forfeit from Alpha Phi.

High game was bowled Monday night by Marilyn Mowatt with a score of 173. Rita Le Piane bowled the high two games with a score of 319.

North Corbin has been dropped from the tournament because of two losses.

Play will continue today at 4 p.m. in the Women's Center when Delta Gamma vs. Kappa Alpha Theta and Turner vs. Corbin.

Montana Druids Honorary Unusual Fraternal Group

By GLENN UPTON

The Montana Druids, the School of Forestry honorary, is unique in that it is the only forestry honorary fraternity of its kind in the nation, according to Craig Lindh, president.

The Druids originated Jan. 19, 1924, under the direction of the late Fay Clark, professor in the School of Forestry. Druids have been an active organization on campus since that time, Lindh said.

Montana Druids is not a social fraternity, but an organization pledged to service. Lindh said its primary objective is service to the School of Forestry and the Forestry Club.

To qualify for membership in the honorary, a student must first have a junior or senior standing in the School of Forestry. Selection is based on the student's scholastic record, devotion and service to the forestry school and club, Lindh said. Druids make the final selection of new members, he said.

Presently 21 active members are in the Druids. Active membership is restricted to that number. New members are selected each fall and winter quarter. New membership depends on the number of vacancies and these are not filled unless there are qualified forestry students, Lindh said.

Lawyers in Powell, Granite and Deer Lodge counties recently donated funds to furnish a room in the new building as a memorial to the late Michael Ruane of Anaconda, he said. These counties have exceeded their quota in the Law School Development Fund drive for money to equip the building.

Hill, Blaine and Liberty counties, where 14 lawyers contributed $1,125, have also exceeded their quota, Dean Sullivan said. Alumni in New York and North Dakota also topped their quotas, he said, and returns still coming in from Montana counties indi-
